

Corona and the Transformation – A cycle of seven poems

When you're at war with the world (24.03.20)

When you're at war with the world, you're at war with yourself.
When transformation comes knocking at your door, open yourself up and surrender.
War is an expression of resistance to change.
Change is life.

~Source Gordon Axmann

Hatred and anger are expressions (25.03.20)

Hatred and anger are expressions of your desire for liberation from limitations
That exist inside of you.
Open up and let these boundaries flow.
Surrender yourself and accept our help, which is currently available in great quantities
And to everyone who is willing to see the current movements as a gift
Even if he doesn't know how to do it yet.

~Source Gordon Axmann

Whenever you have the feeling of (26.03.20)

Whenever you have the feeling of not sensing yourself, not being aware of you,
Not being in the now, you are far from the eternity of the moment,
You drift away from the abundance of the moment.

Only in the moment you do have all you need.
Only beyond time does life exist.

~Source Gordon Axmann

The path to your inner being (28.03.20)

The path to your inner being is the path to your happiness.
If you can simultaneously perceive your inside and your outside,
You are in alignment with life, you are in the power of your eternity and in the immortality of inner unfolding.
To be held there is what every person longs for.

~Source Gordon Axmann

You will only find peace within yourself (29.03.20)

You will only find peace within yourself if you are willing to let go of your limitations.
But to experience your limitations, you have to feel them and this hurts and causes you pain.
So you have to go through the pain again and again, breathe through it to let it go,
To transcend yourself and expand your boundaries.
Even if you don't want it, your soul wants it.

~Source Gordon Axmann

The way inward leads through fear (30.03.20)

The way inward leads through fear.
For only when you face the fear you have of life
And if you really commit to it, it can transform into love
And be available to you anew as liberated energy.

~Source Gordon Axmann

When you're in harmony with yourself (31.03.20)

When you're in harmony with yourself and allow what you really are
No questions arise, no doubts or fear arise,
The certainty arises in you that you are good and whole as you are, and where you are,
And that everything that hurts and oppresses you is nothing compared to what your inner presence is, your inner strength and stability, Knowing that you and all that is, is good in it's evolvment and good in the proceeding of the moment.

For when you realise that everything that is is complete in the now,
It will be evident to you that out of this moment the power and wisdom will develop
To continue life at its very core and point it in a direction that may frighten you, because it is so uncontrolled,
But which in the wisdom of the moment finds itself into a solution to an extension of that which is.

Life is complete in letting go of the control of the unfolding.
Let it go and laugh with life.

~Source Gordon Axmann

Cologne, March 2020 - Translation Peter Schmidt. German original: www.unbeirrbar.de/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/corona_und_die_wandlung.pdf